WE NOMINATE

the hundreds upon hundreds of Princetonians who in this Holiday Season have opened their hearts to others in contributing a record - breaking total of some $3,700 to the Thirteenth Annual Town Topics Christmas Appeal. On the threshold of a New Year, in a world wrestling with fears and grave doubts, it is gratifying to know that Princetonians in the space of 13 years have now given nearly $31,800 to caring for their own at Christmas. For their understanding generosity; for thinking twice of this community's "Forgotten Few"; for refusing to permit youngsters to remain behind the curtains of despair where tomorrow is all too often just another gray morning; these wonderful, wonderful neighbors of ours are our nominees for Princeton's

NEW YEAR, NEW ERA

As New Decade Begins. In common with the rest of the nation, Princeton looked to the oncoming decade of the sixties with a mixture of pleasant anticipation and wonderment as to what major surprises it might unfold. Even putting aside the more dramatic developments which seem certain to take place in the allied fields of science and the Space Age, questions as to what this community would be like by the time the present decade ended provided a full measure of opportunity for intriguing speculation.

As 1950 dawned, the extensive housing boom that has dominated the current decade was just beginning to make itself felt. That year, the U. S. Census Bureau reported a combined population for Borough and Township of 17,627;
how close to doubling that figure would Princeton be by 1970?

Save for major development planned by the University, and anticipated changes in the center of town wrought by Urban Renewal, the face of Princeton Borough is unlikely to be greatly altered in the next ten years. In Princeton Township, however, the Master Plan calls for building many a new road that is now merely a dotted line, and numerous areas are probable sites for major real estate developments, for research or for educational centers.

Traffic control, an increasing municipal headache in each succeeding year of the 'fifties, will continue to play its part in sketching Princeton's face of the fu-

"We're Going to Move"

The 430 Township boys and girls who have been going to school this fall in the Jewish Center, the Unitarian Church and Stony Brook administration building, will move on Monday into Riverside and Johnson Park Schools.

Work has been completed at Riverside, but last-minute inhabitations will be going on at Johnson Park for another month. Pupils attending Johnson will have to take their lunches until the kitchen has been completed. The lunchroom is ready, however. Bus routes have been re-designed and parents of all children have been notified of changes in routes and schools.

Biggest alteration on the country-side, the long-awaited Route 206 By-Pass, extending somewhere from the north of Rocky Hill, past Kingston to a junction with U.S. 1.

Many another development,
some predictable, others unfor-seen, would make themselves felt in the community during the upcoming decade. None, however, would have the lasting, broad-based impact that achievement of consolidation would mean. Conversely, it is not effected by the people long before the approaching decade has run its course, the cost of such neglect will be billed usually to one generation of Princetonians after another.

In Borough Hall on Friday at noon, and four hours later in Township Hall, officials who will guide Princeton through its first year of the new decade will gather for the annual reorganization meetings. Ahead of them—as veterans and neophytes alike
well know—are countless hours of work at little or no pay, occasional vilification for selfish and the short-sighted—and rarely-spoken appreciation from community benefitting hugely from volunteer government.

In the Borough, five elected officials will begin new terms:
Mayor Raymond F. Mole, first Democrat to be re-named to the position in more than a quarter-century; and Councilmen Alfred E. Sorenson and William H. Walker 2d, the latter the only two Republican members of the governing body. Also taking office will be a new tax collector, Theodore E. Stratton, while assessor Edward G. Warren begins a new four-year term.

Council's make-up retains the 4-2 majority enjoyed by the Democrats when the year began.
Continuing in office are Richard W. Colman, Dan D. Coyle, Richard A. Lester and John B. Redding. Mayor Mole's annual address will feature the ceremonies, with a buffet luncheon open to the public scheduled to follow at the Harrison Street Firehouse.

In the Township, the Republicans will retain their 4-1 majority as Thomas P. Cook is sworn in to start a three-year term as a replacement for James G. Campbell Jr. John S. Mount begins a second term; Republicans R.
Kenneth Fairman and Stanley C.
Snover and Democrat William
W. Marvel are the holdovers.
Walter S. Foster Jr. will start a new term as the municipality's tax collector.

WHAT HAPPENED?

In 1959, it was a year of continuing growth in almost every aspect of life in the community and environs... everything went up: new houses, new schools, new research plants, taxes, ratesables and the population.
It was Urban Renewal year in the Borough and Master Plan year in the Township... as 1960 bowed in, the Borough "number one subject" had also become a subject for Township discussion, with both municipalities scheduled to consider the incineratory possibility of joint public housing
... meanwhile, the Township has been implementing the Master Plan, unveiled last spring and aired for public hearing... "I think it's a wonderful plan but I'm against it in principle because that new road goes by my front door!"

There was a three-point tax increase in the Borough and a 2-point boost in the Township...
the Borough hiked its school budget by $13,000 and the Township—Continued on Page 2

Mrs. Dorothy Lummis became principal at Nassau Street replacing Chester Stroup who became Borough assistant superintendent.

Who gets the pie? . . . half of Community Gardens was turned over to the Township for recreation purposes and the School Board said it would like a piece, too, for a new school.

There was controversy in both municipalities. . . Donal MacNamara's Borough policy recommended examinations for merit promotions with the force, but when exams were held and promotions announced, there were rumbles of discontent. . . in the Township, the sewer problem prevented itself, state health officials reported widespread pollution and around citizens contributed widespread discussion.

Politics. Township outnumbered the Borough for the first time in number of registered voters. . . It was Male, Sorenson and Walker in the Borough; Mount and Cook in the Township; the state's youngest Freeholder, Grace A. Guitale in Somerset and the state's first Corner in a long time, Melvin Tumb, winner of a long-in-check written test. . . Consolidation? . . . a question frequently raised during 1959: service forces (police, etc.) consolidation? . . . the possibility of joining the two school systems? . . . joint recreation and disaster control bodies were formed. . . ### BUDGET UP $100,000

For Borough Schools. A proposed budget of $1,507,730 for the school year 1960-61, was announced Tuesday by the Borough Board of Education. The new budget represents an increase of $101,698 over that of the current year.

Almost two-thirds of the increase will be paid for by raises in tuition from sending districts, which will bring in $65,302 in additional revenue. The remaining $36,396, which must be raised by the Borough, is expected to boost the local tax rate for school purposes by approximately 12 points.

Main reason for the higher budget is the new teacher salary schedule adopted in November by the Boards of Education of both the Borough and Township. This budget reflects 30 percent of the proposed teacher salary increase, with an additional 25 percent scheduled to be budgeted for 1961-62 and the final 25 percent in 1962-63.

In a statement issued at the time of the budget announcement this week, the Borough Board of Education said that both the Borough and Township boards felt that "the proposed salary adjustments were proper and necessary in order to attract and retain the quality teachers demanded by our community." Acceptance of the new salary schedule, the board added, would place both the Borough and Township "in a desirable position to obtain well-qualified teachers."

Hearing January 11. In addition to the teacher salary increases, the $100,000 increase in the school budget would cover pay raises for members of the secretarial, custodial and cafeteria staffs. Also included is $5,000 to provide for additional textbooks and school supplies and to compensate for the increased costs of these items. All other items in the new budget are the same as this year.

A public hearing on the new budget will be held Monday evening, January 11, at 8 p.m. in the Board of Education office in

MUNICIPAL LEADERS: Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male (right) will begin his second two-year term Friday. R. Kenneth Fairman is expected to be re-named by his fellow Committeemen to continue as Mayor of the Township when that municipality's governing body reorganizes Friday afternoon at 4. (Story page 1.)

Princeton High School. All interested citizens are invited to attend. The budget will come up for approval by the voters at the regular school election, scheduled for February 9.

PETITIONS FILED

For Boards of Education. With the deadline of 4 this Thursday set for nominating petitions for boards of education, clerks have reported the following petitions received:

Borough. Dr. Elmer G. Hornigshausen, Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch and Mrs. Edna McCrehan, all incumbents, have filed their petitions for the February election. Mrs. Bernice Miller has petitioned to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Thelma Young, who resigned this year.

Township. The only petition received at press time was that of Mrs. Marion Epstein, an incumbent. The two other incumbents whose terms expire in 1962 are William E. Wilson, board president for the past three years, and John E. Dobbin.

Lawrence Township. Three incumbents, James H. Smith Jr., Walter A. Shelton and Robert Immordino, have filed for reelection. Mr. Immordino was appointed this year to fill the place vacated by Dr. Russell Edmunds, who resigned. At press-time, there were no petitions for the one-year term created by the resignation of John P. Murphy earlier this year.

West Windsor. Mrs. Winifred V. Fischer's petition was the only one received at press-time. She ran unsuccessfully for a board vacancy last February.

ORDINANCES PASSED

On Zoning, Building. In an extra session held Tuesday night, Township Committee passed the amended ordinance amending the 1960 zoning ordinance and, following a lengthy discussion on plywood, the new building code.

The plywood question was posed by Howard Vermilya, 83 Alison Road, an architect, who challenged the code's half-inch. —Continued on Page 4 forgot how to be cool and crisp... and an unusual white Christmas to polish it off.

Leisure and the Good Life. Two country clubs were projected for Princeton and the county Arboretum opened its rustic gates. McCarter Theater buzzed during the fall with an extraordinary number of productions, many of them brought to town by young entrepreneurs only a few years removed from The Three Bears... Community Players hired a paid director for the first time in its history... Amis came to town... the good life was slowed down for some Princetonians by a distressing series of fires: Shelton Motors and Mayme Wood suffered serious loss... a house, a cottage and a barn burned... but no lives were lost.

plywood sheathing requirement which was defended by Joseph Shinn, Township building officer. Mr. Vermilya said he thought five-sixteenths inch plywood was enough. The ordinance was passed with Committee member Stanley Smoyer recommending that the plywood requirements be re-examined.

William H. Cherry, 21 Dempsey Avenue, questioned the zoning change in the Snowden Lane-Bruburn area from one and one-half acres to three-quarter acres, suggesting that the change might benefit an individual developer rather than the Township as a whole.

In reply, Mayor R. Kenneth Palmer said that the Planning Board had recommended the three-quarter designation so that development could proceed in an orderly manner. Many lots are irregular in shape and impossible to develop individually, Committee member John Mowat pointed out.

NO DUMP-DRY FOR CARS!

Residents Protest Violently. About a dozen highly articulate and indignant residents of the Bayard Lane-Leigh Avenue area appeared Monday night before the Township Zoning Board to express their opposition to a car-wash installation planned by Mike and Tony's Service station.

The opposition, heated and verbal during the meeting, exploded afterward into near violence with flying fists, but Township police, conveniently stationed at their desks downstairs from the meeting hall, prevented violence.

The installation, denied by the Zoning Board, would have been built behind the station in a residential zone. Spokesmen for the new enterprise told the Zoning Board that an average of 100 cars a day would pass through the "wash," with about 250 on Saturdays.

Pasquale Rosal, 120 Leigh Avenue, who lives across the street from the proposed car-wash, told Zoning Board members that Leigh Avenue is much too narrow to accommodate additional cars. He said that he has trouble getting in and out of his driveway on the one-way street as it is.

Louis Leight and Alphonse Leight, owners of the gas station next to Mike and Tony's, also expressed their opposition, basing it on the line-up of cars which they said would be inevitable.

"It would be like a stabilized sign," Louis Leight said. Alphonse Leight told the Board that sewers in the area are inadequate to begin with and that the water flooding into them from the washed washed cars would be just too much.

Michael Penna, of Mike and Tony's, produced a petition with some 100 names expressing approval of the car-wash. The addresses were challenged by Frederick Forster, 20 Birch Avenue, who said most of them were outside the Leigh-Birch-Bayard area.

At the addresses were read, Anthony Rosal, 118 Leigh Avenue, rose from the rear of the hall. "You read my address, but I never signed that petition," Mr. Rosal said. "I'm against the car-wash—whose name is that next to my address?" Zoning Board

Fog on top of Snow . . .
And winter only
Ten days old
With three more months
To go!*

O. DEER

Winter was offering a good deal of everything, but not much of it was good. Last week's five-inch snow fall was followed by fog-filled days and nights after which came huck-stful of rain and then a touch more snow.

Therefore, the sun came out after an absence of a whole week. Despite the bleak surroundings, it gave notice of plans to stay around for a while and greet the New Year. Fine thought, the Weather Man agreed, hoping with the rest of us that the forecast for a generally clear weekend would stand up.

members told him the name was "Flory Rosal."

"Flory?" said Mr. Rosal, "That's my nine-year-old son!"

Mr. Penna explained hastily that the petition had been left on his desk for customers to sign and the Rosal boy must have seen it there.

ACCIDENT REPORT

Weather a Major Factor. Slippery and fog-shrouded streets resulted in a larger number of accidents than normal during the past week, although none of the collisions were serious.

A three-car accident Wednesday night was the first in the series. George Clawson, 29 Kendall Road, Kendall Park and Mrs. Anne Rosal, 212 John Street, were on Witherspoon Street waiting for a light to change when Alexander Evers, 71 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, rammed the rear of Mrs. Rosal's car. She suffered injuries to her neck and back, was taken to Princeton Hospital and released after being treated. Mr. Evers, who sustained a bloody nose, was issued a summons for careless driving.

News Of The THEATRES

"MARY STUART" SCHEDULED
By Dana Attractions, Dana Attractions Inc. will present the National Phoenix Theatre production of Schiller's "Mary Stuart" on February 12 and 13 at McCar-ter Theatre. The play, which will be the first full-scale professional drama at McCarter in two years, will star Eva Le Gallienne and Signe Hasso.

The play, dealing with the historical conflict between Queen Elizabeth and Mary, Queen of Scots, was adapted by Jean Stock Goldstone and John Reich. It is being presented nationally by the National Phoenix Theatre and Sol Hurok. The cast also includes Staats Cotsworth and a company of 12.

Tyrone Guthrie will direct, with sets and lighting by Donald Oenslager and costumes by Alvin Colt.
When "Mary Stuart" opened in New York, Brooks Atkinson labeled it "triumphantly theatrical" and commented: "It is a tale of giants, calculated to make the theatregoer sit on the edge of his seat."

Following its current tour,
the production will play a return engagement in Broadway. Tickets are now available by mail from Dana Attractions and will be on sale at the University Store on Monday.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Miracle (December 30-January 5), a new screen adaptation of the well-known play first produced in 1911, is lavishly produced in Technirama and Technicolor. The excellent cast includes Carroll Baker, Roger Moore, Walter Slezak, Vittorio Gassman, Katina Paxinos and Dennis King.

The story, originally set in the early Eighteenth Century, has been updated to 1812 apparently to enable the scriptwriters to insert some topical references to Napoleon's invasion of Spain.

Ballet Espanol Rabooked

The Celebrity Series, which open its spring program with a return performance by Roberto Iglesias' "Ballet Espanol" at McCarter Theatre at 8:30 on February 1. The company of 20 Spanish dancers appeared in Princeton last fall.

Joyce Grenfell will present a one-woman show at 8:30 on February 6, while the Weavers, a folk-singing quartet, will appear at 8:30 on February 27.
The series will conclude with the first Princeton appearance of the Vienna Choir Boys at 8:30 on April 1.

Tickets will be available at the University Store or by mail. Prices and application instructions are given in the advertisement on this page.

Miss Baker, a postulant in a convent, deserts her calling to follow an English soldier (Moore)
she had nursed in the convent hospital. At the time she leaves, the statue of the Virgin disappears from its pedestal in the chapel. The Virgin takes on the form of the postulant, and thus no one is aware Miss Baker has run off.

But run off she does, to an incredible series of adventures involving gypsy musicians, assassinats, bullfighters, the dashing soldier himself, French soldiers, and café owners. After the requisite number of spectacular battle and bulling scenes, the officer proposes marriage, but by now Miss Baker is ready to return to the convent. Irving Rapper was the director.

Journey to the Center of the Earth (January 6-12), the Jules Verne classic, has been brought to the screen in an adaptation by Charles Brackett which can't seem to make up its mind whether to be science fiction, defective drama or musical comedy. The line-up of stars (Pat

Dahl and Diane Baker) reflects this indecision.

Baker, who slips in a song once in a while in his distinctively expressionless harp, is the protégé of Neson, an Edinburgh geologist who wants to go to the center of the earth. They set out for Ireland (the year is 1880) to descend a volcano crater. Before they set foot in the mountain, however, they meet Mike Dahl, the recent widow of a Swedish professor who wanted to heat Mason to the project, and a local duck-bender (Peter Roason) who has a purportedly humorous duck named, inevitably, Gertrude. Once everybody has introduced himself, the foursome makes the descent, only to find that Thayer David, who killed Mrs. Dahl's husband, is already down there. The tip, with its weird caverns, subterranean monstrosities and sunken cities, is photographed brilliantly in CinemaScope and color and is fascinating, although it partakes more of fiction than of science.

Unfortunately, there's the singing and all that cove-and-robbers nonsense with David to muddy things up. Toward the end, David captures and eats the duck, which establishes his complete villainy without question and makes inevitable his eventual horrible demise, and a couple of love interests spring up. In spite of all this, the sunken cities and magnetic storms are worth seeing.

THE GARDEN

"Hound-Dog Man" (December 31-January 2). Legend has it that The Fabulous Fabian (that, so far as we can determine, is the fluff-dressed young gentleman's complete and natural name) was lounging in his back yard one day, a clear-eyed and unambitious 15-year-old, when an agent approached and asked him how he would like to be a rock-and-roll star. "Sir? A rock-and-roll star?" Joked The Fabulous Fabian. "Why, I can't sing a note." "You'll do fine," the agent smiled, and the firmament poised to accept the new arrival.

GRIGGSTOWN

Apparently to insure himself against the premature demise of his recording career (what with the payola probe and all, it's getting more and more difficult to get disk jockeys to play records by people who can't sing), The Fabulous Fabian is making his film debut in "Hound-Dog Man." Since his reaction to the suggestion that he should be a movie star seems to have been similar to his retort to the legendary record agent, 20th Century-Fox and producer Jerry Wald have surrounded him with Carol Lynley and Stuart Whitman, two of Hollywood's more promising children. The story, in CinemaScope and color, is all about hound dogs and girls and growing up and stuff, and The Fabulous Fabian gets a chance to unsing six songs.

The Mirror Has Two Faces (January 5-9) is an interesting French product (with English titles) about an ugly young wife who is transformed by plastic surgery into a beauty. The change, which represents all she has most desired, brings about sweeping differences in her life with which she is emotionally unprepared to deal. Featured roles are played by Michele Morgan, Bourvil, Gerard Oury and Ivan Desny and the performances are excellent.

East of Eden (January 4) is one of the two major pictures (the other: "Rebel Without a Cause") that were chiefly responsible for creating the international aura which surrounds the late James Dean. Produced in CinemaScope and color in 1955, the John Steinbeck story concerns the attempts of a moody and sensitive young man to establish identity in a seemingly unfriendly and unympathetic society. Others in the superb cast are Julie Harris, Raymond Massey, Richard Davalos, Burl Ives and Ju Van Fleet. Recommended.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

IT'S NEW To Us

IF ANCHOR

We like the South. The man of the house, having paid all the Christmas bills, is now entitled to a little fun of his own and on the assumption that he'll find it south of Princeton, we take you to The English Shop, a Nassau Street port of embarkation.

First, you'll find a collection of new cotton sports jackets, smooth to the touch as chintz and light on a suburban Sunday. One is dark with a medallion sunburst print. Another is lighter in feeling with a batik look because of its dark uneven forms against a white ground. Slender tracings of black fill the spaces between the print motifs. There is also a hopsacking jacket in paiseley.

Acetian and wool combine in another collection which leans heavily on shades of grey and olive. There are plaids and checks, most of them so muted and quiet that you have to peer closely to see the squares.

Egyptian cotton woven in Switzerland has been used for another group of jackets. These are iridescent green or slate grey—both quiet colors which sound a lot louder in print than they really are. Each jacket has a medallion print lining. And finally on the rack, is a Tussock cotton in natural with the deep slubs characteristic of this fabric adding textural interest.

The shorts story at The English Shop is woven around Madras, as you might guess. Bermudas in every Madras plaid you could think of are sunning themselves on the table.

We liked best the new one made of four-inch squares, like a patch-work quilt. Each square is a different Madras pattern and the entire pair of shorts consists of these blocks, sewn together deftly as they would be in a fine quilt.

Wear Last Year's! Silly! The lady going south is well served this winter by Bellows, with Mogyash linen, cotton Madras, Galey and Lord tarpon cloth and hopsacking. To say nothing of laces.

Mogyash Bermudas in teal brown or willow green flash a printed cummerbund which matches your cotton broadcloth roll-up sleeve blouse. Prints are minute florals. Shorts are meticulously made with a hidden side zipper you may have trouble finding yourself ($10.95).

The hopsacking shorts are that pale wheat color and the matching belt and blouse are a beige and white print which combines hats on hutchbacks, horglouses and keys in baffling proximity. There is also an Oxford skirt in floral stripes and a white cotton with India ink line drawings. Tarpon cloth with Madras make another interesting combination.

Bathing suits, besides being Madras cut with boy leg, are also Hawaiian cut with strong bias. You may also have a skirt if you want one. These tropical suits are royal blue and white or gold and orange, like a tropical sunset or white sails on a blue sea or anything else you can think of that's full of splash and spray.

With them you may have a three-quarter sleeved jacket, also in royal and white or gold and orange, with silver buttons and a wide neck. Wear the jacket with white duck Bermudas if you like.

So Who Swims?

We saw two bathing suits the other day. They are designed to be worn separately but no cruise wardrobe would be well rounded without both.

The first one ($35) is white pleated nylon chiffon, draped diagonally to form a sheath and sustained by one shoulder strap and strategic boning. That's the front. Back is white latex, snug as cupid's bow.

The second suit ($50) is black lace with a wide black cummerbund. The lace overlays a latex sheath of rose beige and this suit has two shoulder straps. It also has a black lace jacket, short-sleeved, unlined, which can be worn with the suit or over a cocktail dress, assuming you could get all the sand out of the interstices. (Just think of the steelhead tin you could get through the lace!)

Anyhow, we described these two suits to a man we know and he said, "Well, speaking from the male point of view, they don't sound very practical." Practical? A well-tanned blonde in the white one sounds like the most practical thing in the world—from the male point of view, anyway.

The shop is Bellows.

or a permanently pleated white skirt.

A polished cotton wrap skirt, slightly flared, has a self print like damask, and two shoestring bows at the waist. Comes in jade green or turquoise blue from the dye-pots of Kahala and there are bathing suits that match. Ladies to the parlors may purchase a pair of these skinny pants in a dark print which seems to use French trade-union labels, if that is possible.

Tarpon cloth appears again in an iridescent skirt with deep pockets and a sensible air. Rust, deep gold, steel blue and green are the colors. Bellows regards these skirts as excellent ones for golfers.

Thin linen skirts in teak brown or willow green have stitched down inverted box pleats and the hidden zipper that went into the matching shorts. These skirts are $14.95. Madras has been used for some other pleated skirts, also stitched down. You know how random Madras is—well, you might just happen to find a blazer to match the skirt you choose. Some blazers match, some are on their own.

A delicious dress for a warm day (keep it for spring) is a pale blue and white pinstripe, the stripes horizontal around the full skirt and the bodice with its mandarin collar. Oblongs of white with thin-bordered stripes, rather like old-fashioned dresser scarves, have been sewed to sleeves and back of this dress for an unusual accent.

The white flannel skirt appears with red and navy insets, no wider than a pencil mark, behind the opened seams of the skirt front. This skirt has a crepe lining. A jacquer red flannel has similar distinction in its trimming. A plain navy "V.I.P." skirt has red and white to set it apart. With these, wear a navy blazer cut from the Chanel pattern, and a white silk skirt.

We're Staying Home. People with Christmas checks to spend want to do well to investigate the new art books at the University Store because what could be pleasanter on a foggy winter night than to curl up by the fire with Picasso?

John Moriarty, 69, 401B Devereux Avenue, a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Anne E. Davison, same address, was hurt Thursday afternoon when a car operated by Irene T. Mitchell of Hightstown skidded into the rear of Mrs. Davison's auto. Mr. Moriarty was taken to the hospital with contusions of the back and neck. The accident occurred on Witherspoon Street.

Also injured on Thursday afternoon was Nicholas Buccafuso, 59, 114 Jackson Street, who was hit as he walked onto Witherspoon Street from between parked cars, by Catherine Conwell, 20, 19 MacLean Street. Mr. Buccafuso was taken to Princeton Hospital, treated for bruises and released.

A three-car accident late Sunday evening brought major injuries to three persons. Police said George M. Baker, 42, 82 Hartley Avenue, passed a "stop" sign at the intersection of Franklin Avenue and Jefferson Road and was hit by a car driven by Charlotte Cost, 36, 150 Loomis Court. The impact of the collision caused Mr. Baker's car to slide into the path of a station wagon operated by Martha C. Harrison, 51, Ten Acre Foundation.

Mrs. Haddie Coff, Ten Acre Foundation, a passenger in the car driven by Mrs. Harrison, was taken to Princeton Hospital, treated for abrasions of the forehead and nose and released. Mr. Baker and Mrs. Cost also sustained cuts and bruises but refused medical attention.

Mrs. W. Pepper Constable, 35, Rosedale Road, was issued a summons for careless driving for.

Reply to Mr. Kendall.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am making public the following reply to the letter in the December 24th Town Topics written by Herbert J. Kendall, President of the Drakes Corner Corporation.

"Your letter to the Editor of Town Topics of December 24, 1959, questioning the judgment of this Health Officer, with regard to the extension of sewers on Heather Lane, requires consideration on your judgment of the assessment of this particular health need."

"The New Jersey State Department of Health Bureau of Public Health Department conducted a sanitary survey of specific potable water and sewage problems in Princeton Township in June of 1959. This study was conducted upon the request of this Local Health Department through the office of the Commissioner of Health, when conditions requiring the opinions of experts in the field of public health were necessary in order to arrive at some practical and feasible solutions."

"Enclosed please find the report that was submitted by the State with regard to all the areas in question and especially the one which concerns you, Heather Lane. I am sure that you will find that the information which you have, regarding the overflow of septic material is entirely erroneous, and that the extension of sewer lines was not a judgment made by this local Health Officer."

MARCELLA C. FARLEY,
Sanitary Inspector First Grade
Acting Health Officer

HEALEY IN, MORRIS OUT.
In Lawrence Township, Owen R. Healey, 28 Allwood Drive, Lawrence Township, Committee member for the past five years, is scheduled to replace John T. Cunningham as mayor of the municipality. Mr. Healey, who presently heads the police department and finance, said that only minor changes would be made January 1.

Cornelius T. Morris, Rosedale Road, a member of the Committee, has announced that he will resign his membership New Year's Day. Mr. Morris said that his duties as manager of plant facilities for the Itek Corporation of Boston, require him to travel so extensively that it is impossible for him to attend committee meetings and to take care of other township affairs. He had served two and a half years as a committee member.

SANTA THANKS SPONSORS.
Henry Schultz Remembered. Busy as they are just before Christmas, a large number of Princeton merchants, as well as professional men and women, remembered to extend a helping hand to Princeton's blind Santa Claus.

Henry Schultz, who talked happily on the telephone to several hundred children in the fortnight before Christmas, has expressed his heartfelt thanks to all those who contributed to his "fund."

PEACE IN OUR TIME—AND FOREVER? The chances for a lasting peace were bolstered, many Princetonians felt, by President Eisenhower's 11-nation, good will trip overseas. Jimmy Wallace (left) believes that the present peace is just a sometime thing, and that in 10 to 20 years the world will find itself embroiled in World War III. Ernie Pignona speaks for all peace-loving people in saying that another war "just wouldn't be worth it." To see what other Princetonians think about peace and its chances for staying with us, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: This is a time of "peace on earth, good will toward men." What do you think are the chances for a lasting peace today?

Where asked: Vicinity of Post Office.

Lois Demarest, 23 Murray Place, Nassau Inn room-clerk: I think they're pretty good because President Eisenhower has travelled all over the world to promote reception he has gotten would indicate that the countries he visited want peace. If everybody wants peace, we'll have it.

Gerald Fadden, 238 Harrison Street, accountant: I hope they are good only because I don't want to believe otherwise. From the recent news events, there seems to be a warming of the world's problems, especially with Russia, anyway.

Mrs. Justus Vollbrecht, 58 Cleveland Lane, housewife: I think they look rather remote. I believe that we have peace only as long as our enemies know that to start a war would mean world-wide destruction. We are a long way from the peace of Christ.

Harold L. Eldridge, 139 Jefferson Road, salesman: For the immediate future, it looks good. Things can change but chances for peace look better at the moment than they have in years. The world leaders have been able to sit down and discuss their problems. I don't think it's too late. I don't feel there can ever be a lasting peace. I certainly hope there is but I have my doubts.

Mrs. A. G. Gramm, Carter Road, housewife: I don't think it's too hot. Human nature being what it is, I don't feel there can ever be a lasting peace. I certainly hope there is but I have my doubts.

John Perna Jr., 25 Greenview Avenue, taxi driver: With the two leaders, President Eisenhower and Khrushchev, meeting some time next Spring, I guess that is a sign of peace right there. Shows we're getting somewhere.

Mrs. James Gathing, Ridgeview Road, housewife: I think in view of President Eisenhower's unprecedented tour, the chances for peace are better than they have been in 25 years.

Cyle Odencrants, Princeton Inn, waiter: I think they are poor. I say that because the economic condition is so confused and the political situation is so befuddled that peace is dubious.

Mrs. Claire Miller, 172 Nassau Street, nurse: When I think of the effort that President Eisenhower is putting forth, I believe the chances for peace are much better today.

David White, 124 Quaker Road, student at Brandeis University: If the present unbending stand of the foreign ministers is unmitigated, the chances for any lasting peace are nil. Adenauer's unwillingness to bend on German reunification is an example. With Germany such a potential military and economic power, this problem must be solved amicably if there is to be peace. A lasting co-existence between Russia and this country is the only real possibility for world peace in the near future.

Mrs. Peter Gross, Pretty Brook Road, housewife: I think the chances are very good. The threat of annihilation by nuclear warfare is too great, I feel there may be small skirmishes and constant ideological tensions, but I don't think there'll be an all-out war.

John W. Kenna, 12 Randall Road, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Princeton Township: Well, I think that under the current political situation in Russia and here, that the chances for peace are much better than they were a decade ago. I really think that there seems to be a willingness on Russia's part to approach political issues in a less militant manner than it did before. I just hope we have peace; I'm getting tired of war!

Mrs. Charles Parker Jr., Old Road, housewife: I think they're pretty good. Maybe I'm an optimist but I can't see how we can exist any other way. I'm sure we will find a way. The only way we can manage is to maintain peace.

Martin Sherman, Engineering Graduate Student, Princeton Graduate School: I feel that there will either be a lasting peace or nothing. The destructiveness of modern war has reached the point that the old patterns cannot continue. It's very hard to say what the chances are for a lasting peace. I just don't know.

Mrs. A. Sharpen, Ringoes, secretary: I think they're very good. Really, I believe that most of all the countries in the world are aware of the danger of atomic bombs and nuclear weapons enough so that it forces us all to be careful.

Jimmy Wallace, 194 Clover Lane, Princeton High School freshman: I think chances for a lasting peace are 50-50. I think what happens at the coming summit meeting this Spring might have a lot of effect on peace. I believe we need to be afraid of Russia because they are ahead of us in the space race and they have a lot stronger forces than we do. I think if they wanted to, they could take us over. I feel that there will be another World War. Not right away, but in another 10 to 20 years.

Ernie Pignona, 309 Snowden Lane, seventh grade, Valley Road School: I think there could be peace. I know that Russia isn't everybody to be Communists but that America would like everybody to have freedom. But I really don't think there will be another war because it would destroy everything and there wouldn't be anything left. It just wouldn't be worth it.

TOTAL LOSS: Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the old (1902) Lawrenceville School gymnasium in the early morning hours of December 23. Temperature that dropped to nine degrees made it harder for firemen from five companies in the area. Loss will run to several hundred thousand dollars, with no decision yet reached as to whether the building (used for intramural athletics and including a four-lane swimming pool) will be replaced. (Staff Photos.)

It's Now To Us

The master appears, along with Braque, Chagall, Dufy, Leger, Matisse and Miró in a volume of original posters. The book is supposed to include all posters by all these artists, so it should last you a long time.

The New York Graphic Society has several magnificent new volumes, designed for almost any taste. There are Buddhist paintings, from ancient Japan; Matisse's Florentine frescoes, pre-Impressionist paintings of Mexico and iconography from the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia.

Universe Books produces a volume on Vaninck with black and white lithographs and a colored one not previously reproduced. There's a two-volume exhibit of Rubens' drawings and a single volume of Picasso's drawings, 1900 to the present, this one from the Abrams publishing house.

Every known work of Marcel Duchamp has been included in Robert Lebel's book. There is even a statement by The Men himself, plus 50 photographs.

For people with a dollar to spend, The University Store has a stock of charming little French reproductions — Manet, Matisse, and so on — each one about six by eight inches. Suitable, as they say, for framing.

In Synchronized Classes. Women and girls from eight years of age are invited to join a new class for beginners in synchronized swimming which will be offered by the YWCA starting January 4. The class will meet Monday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:45 under the direction of W. W. Detweiler and Mrs. Bruce Bergquist. Advanced swimming ability is a prerequisite.

The class is designed to prepare women for participation in the synchronized swim club, the Y-Nauts, organized last summer. The Y-Nauts has grown from its original two members to 35 and its swimmers will participate in the YWCA's first annual Water Show to be held next spring.

SPORTS In Princeton

KAZMAIER WAS BEST
Named "Ivy Player of Decade," Dick Kazmaier, who holds the lion's share of Princeton's career records on offense, has been voted the Ivy League's "Player of the Decade" for the era that began in 1960 and ended last fall. Kazmaier also won to the Tigers as they won three places on the all-star team selected for the same period, a feat equaled only by Brown (which has never finished in first division).

The choices were made by a committee of 21 sportswriters headed by The New York Times' Allan Danzig, who spearheaded the volatile attack that produced successive championship teams for Princeton in 1959 and '61, was the only unanimous selection.

The other Princetonians named were Frank McPhee, an All-American as a senior in 1962 and the best end in Princeton history; and Brad Glass, a highly durable guard who often played eye-catching football in '64 and '65 and was the only Princetonian to place on the second team was tackle Hollie Donan '61.

The complete Ivy team of the decade:
Ends—McPhee (Princeton '63) and Paul Lopata (Yale '57).
Tackles—Jim McGuinness (Brown '53) and Jack Shanfield (Penn '51).
Guards—Glass (Princeton '63) and Bill Meigs (Harvard '56).
Center—Dan Warburton (Brown '59).

Backs—Kazmaier (Princeton '62), Paul Chagnon (Brown '60), Chet Boulton (Harvard '60) and Dennis McGill (Yale '57).

Selections of this nature are hazardous at best, and the list of 21 writers included a few who haven't been in the Palmer Stadium press box more than once or twice in the whole decade. While it does not appear that any Princeton player was overlooked for first-team balloting, certainly the omission of tailback Royce Fipps from the backfield on the second eleven was an oversight.

Princeton does, however, benefit by inattention in the omission of its players from the second team—and from the annual all-star selections each fall, where it is rarely represented. That the Tigers stand far up in the cumulative won-loss records for the past decade is a tribute to overall balance and coaching ability, rather than an indication of the presence of a few superstars.

WINTER ROUND-UP

Basketball Race Begins, Cappy

MILLER'S FUEL KIDS

HERE'S COAL THAT KEEPS IT'S PROMISE

We recognize our duty to the public. We sell the kind of coal that will give really dependable heat and add happiness to any man's heart. Our prices are right.

AT STARTING LINE: Captain Jim Brangan will lead Tiger quintet in first Ivy contest of season against Penn at Philadelphia Saturday night.

Cappon's basketball team opens its Ivy League activities Saturday night in the Palestra with Pennsylvania. The Quakers have little this season, and could wind up in last place if Harvard doesn't get there first.

Two more road games are on tap before the home opener on January 13 with Pennsylvania. The Tigers will be at New Haven on Friday, January 8, to face a surprising Eli quintet and move on to Providence to face Brown the following night. (For results of this week's southern trip, see page 17.)

Hockey Team Heads North. Hopful of retaining the fine form it showed in its surprising 3-0 victory over highly-rated Boston University, Princeton's hockey team travels to upper New York State this weekend for a pair of contests against perennially rugged opposition.

Clarkson College, based in Potsdam, N.Y., but so loaded with Canadians that it has only four Americans on its squad, is the opponent on New Year's Day. The Golden Knights have a 4-4 record against topflight teams, including an 11-4 decision over Yale.

St. Lawrence will entertain the Tigers on Saturday at Canton, N.Y. Both teams are normally out of Princeton's class; the Orange and Black has not beaten Clarkson since 1951 and has lost all seven encounters with St. Lawrence.

The weekend contests will serve as an additional measuring stick of the Tigers' resurgence this winter. They'll be home Wednesday night for an 8 o'clock game against St. Nicholas Hockey Club and will open their Ivy season the following Saturday with Brown.

BOWLING NOTES

Shelton Ties Deekers. With action in most leagues suspended for the holidays, Shelton Motors posted two victories last week to tie Deekers at 62-all in the "A" loop at Princeton Recreation Center. Runners-up are Hulet's Shoes (58) and Farr Hardware and Farmers (52 each).

Physics (58) added six triumphs to leap ahead of Materhorn B and C.S.A. (56 each) with two weeks of play remaining in the first round of the University Faculty League. Trailing in the tight race are Combined Operations and Materhorn A (54 each) and Machine Development (52).

In the Mixed League, the Roses and the Wheelers are knotted at 23 wins apiece. Other pairs are the Hendersons (20), the Goldens and the Scuteratis (18 each) the Fowlers (16), the Walkers (14) and the Kleibers (9).

Notable individual scores: Frank Delness, 227; Lindsay Crawford, 222; Bill Bathie, 201; and Mike Corio, 200, in the "A" League; Ernie Goldberg 216; Bob Mills.

BUSINESS In Princeton

HOW'S BUSINESS?

"About the Same." Shop-keepers up and down Nassau Street and around the Shopping Center Mall report a generally satisfactory Christmas buying season. In an informal Towns Forces poll, the replies to "How did business go?" range from "so-so" (a liquor store) to "excellent — not ever, without question," (a clothing shop).

Ledgers are still to be totaled, of course, and no definite figures are available, but one specialty shop was able to pinpoint business as 3 percent over 1958.

"Last year was a good year," said one shop owner who specializes in expensive gift items, and this year was just about the same. "I could have been happier, I guess, but I wasn't unhappy."

The specialty shop reporting the 3 percent increase said that each year it has been in business has been better than the year before. A new store open for its first Christmas was pleasantly surprised by the number of people who came to buy.

"There was a little more bargaining this year," said a men's clothing store owner. "None of the usual spirit of who-cares-about-money-it's Christmas, but we did all right anyway."

Christmas shoppers started out earlier this year, said one store owner, adding that the shop had more out-of-town customers than before. Shoppers also kept going longer, apparently, because one appliance firm said that staying open the day before Christmas was "very profitable for us." This firm did very well on an over-all basis.

Two stores reported higher sales of expensive items than they had expected. One, a furniture store, sold more big pieces than small. But on the other side of the edge, another store in the same line sold more small pieces than large.

The owner of a shop which sells things for children reported that sales figures had not been totaled yet, but that business seemed to be just like last year—which was very good indeed.

"I always judge the state of business," said this lady-behind-the-counter, "by my own physical fatigue and things must have been fine this year because I'm just exhausted."

ARTIST JOINS STAFF

At Princeton Art Services, Frank Steward of Grovers Mill has joined the art staff at Princeton Art Services, 175 Nassau Street. Formerly a successful free-lance, Mr. Steward has handled assignments for various business firms in New York, Trenton and New Brunswick including Shell Oil and S.H. Stamps. At Princeton Art Services, he will do layout, illustrations and finished work.

The addition of Mr. Steward to the staff is part of an expansion program under which the art service plans to offer a wider variety of art work based on the different styles of the firm's artists.

ROGER WILLIAMS EXPANDS

Acquires British Firm. The chemical market research organization, Roger Williams Technical and Economic Services Inc. of Princeton, has bought the British consulting firm of George Levi and Partners, London. Williams has conducted economic surveys for chemical, rubber and petroleum companies, as well as government agencies, since 1950.

Industrial Unit Formed

Chairman of the newly-created Hopewell Township Industrial Commission is Fredrick R. Peterson, a Hopewell resident who is associated with Laidlaw and Company, Princeton. At a recent lunch, to which the Hopewell Township Committee and area industrial leaders were invited, Dilman M. K. Smith, a member of the commission and president of Princeton Research Park, spoke on the approach to publishing an area.

Others who spoke on the expansion of ratables in the township were Kenneth Williamson of Rockwell Manufacturing; Glenn Simmons of Western Electric; and Paul VanWegen, secretary of the commission and an official of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

In discussing the development of the township, it was felt that quick growth should be avoided in order to retain the present character of the community, and that good roads and facilities for part-time higher education are important to light industry and research laboratories. The commission plans to hold similar meetings in the near future.

don office, at 7 Hanover Square, the company will be able to appraise the European market, using the same techniques of market research that it has employed in the United States.

SOCIAL SECURITY RATE UP

Will Be 3% on January 1. Chris L. Gross, district director of internal revenue, has called the attention of Princeton employers to the increase in Social Security tax rates, effective Friday.

Wages paid on or after that date will be subject to a 3% tax, payable by both employer and employee, bringing the total to 6%. The rate until now has been 2½%. The revised tax tables are available at the Trenton office of the Internal Revenue Service, and have been mailed to most employers in this area.

Obituaries

The Rev. Dr. William Jelliffe, 54, of 14 South Stanwood Drive, died December 26 in a Princeton nursing home after a long illness. A former board chairman of the New York City Mission Society, from 1939 to 1952, he had been a director since 1951, and was named its executive vice-president in 1950. He became president in 1954. He had been the society's historian and honorary board member since his retirement.

In furthering the society's work, he helped found the Second Spanish Evangelical Church, now the Church of the Crossroads, as well as the group's Harlem branch, Camp Sharpshooters in Dover Plains, N. Y., and Camp Minnik in Fort Jervis, N. Y.

A graduate of Union Theological Seminary, Dr. Jelliffe was associate minister of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church from 1908 to 1930. He was a member of the Camp Fire Club of America and the Century Association of Princeton. Middlebury College awarded him an honorary D.D. degree in 1930.

His wife, Mrs. Catherine Jelliffe, is his only survivor. The funeral was held at the Central Presbyterian Church in New York City.

John M. McCloskey, 65, of 17 Chestnut Street, died December 22 after a long illness. Born in Princeton, he was a member of Princeton Engine Company No. 1, Princeton Post No. 78, American Legion, and Steam Fitters and Turners Local of Princeton. He served in the army during World War I.

He is survived by two brothers Thomas S. McCloskey and Patrick W. McCloskey; and two sisters, Mrs. John Golden and Miss Rose McCloskey, and several nieces and nephews. A requiem mass was celebrated at St. Paul's Church with interment in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Isabella Sheldon Owen Oswood, 66, of 92 Stockton Street, died December 27. The widow of Dr. Charles G. Oswood, Professor Emeritus of English at Princeton University, she was born in Philadelphia. She was the past president of the Princeton Garden Club and the Present Day Club, and was active in the work of the First Presbyterian Church and many charities.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert N. Smyth of Princeton, and two grandsons. The Rev. George Blair officiated at the funeral, held at the First Presbyterian Church. Burial was private. Arrangements were under the direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Maude E. Potts, 79, of Prospect Avenue, Kingston, died December 27 after a long illness. Born in Kingston, she was a member of the Ladies Aid Society of the Kingston Methodist Church.

The widow of Franklin E. Potts, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph F. Catelli of Kingston; a sister, Mrs. Elsie Sorge of Keyport; and two grandchildren. The service was held at the Kingston Funeral Home with the Rev. William Kingston, pastor of the Kingston Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in Kingston Cemetery.

TIGERS LOSE TWO

Look Back against Tennessee. A two-day south coast tour saw more defeats to the Princeton basketball team's record, now 2-5 on the season. The Tigers dropped a 79-71 decision Monday to Tennessee, staging a good second-half fight in which they outscored the Vols, 44-35, but were thoroughly outclassed the following night against Vanderbilt, 72 to 54.

A good performance by sophomore Pete Campbell paved the visitors' late surge against Tennessee, as the 6-11 shot-blocker hit for 26 points, 20 of them after the intermission. Captain Jim Drangon and Don H. Swan were in double figures with respective totals of 14 and 12. Sophomore Al Kacmerlieden made his first appearance of the season after a Larry Brennan fouled out early in the second half. The 6-4 center, who recovered from a knee operation may mean a good deal to the Tigers, grabbing ten rebounds and seven points in the final 15 minutes.
